Landmark Reborn: D.O.M Hotel Roma

The prestigious Via Giulia, a leafy residential street for local aristocrats since the Renaissance, now has a hotel worthy of its pedigree. At the D.O.M Hotel, you feel both the past and present at once: a 17th-century former convent now houses a noirish, black-and-platinum lounge, a bistro-style restaurant with crystal chandeliers and Andy Warhol silkscreens, and 24 champagne-colored rooms that combine Art Deco and Midcentury Modern influences. Cross-vaulted corridors lead to a rooftop terrace bar, which serves up cutting-edge cocktails and charming rooftop views.
